WELCOME TO THE WORLD OF EPICUREN BABY

Epicuren Baby products are designed for parents and professionals who want to know they are using only the finest and safest possible products for the health and care of baby and planet:

- formulated with 100% naturally derived ingredients
- high concentration of organics (75% - 100%)
- specifically designed for the unique vulnerabilities and needs of baby skin
- supports parent-child bonding with Episencial Signature Aromatherapy blends
- enhances immunity with actively healthy ingredients
- free from all unhealthy chemical fragrances, ingredients, and residues like phthalate and BpA
- sustainably manufactured with solar power

Epicuren Baby products offer parents and their children the luxury of spa-quality, professional skin care that goes beyond the green trend. With an advisory board made up of the nation's foremost childbirth and postpartum educators, Epicuren Baby's naturally pure skincare products support a lifetime of closeness and good habits with organic, gentle formulations. These products are designed to enhance the nurturing experiences shared with children by fully engaging the sensory pathways stimulated through basic grooming and the loving touch of baby massage.

OUR COMMITMENT TO YOU

Episencial's Epicuren Baby skincare products, made with natural, organic ingredients, support sensitive skin as an essential component of the immune system and overall well-being. You can trust our products and actively healthy philosophy to help you and your family build a stronger foundation of knowledge, closeness, and confidence.

Our physical and emotional well-being can be affected adversely by many things – the damaged global environment, harmful toxins, and sometimes, the careless way we treat our bodies. By offering my understanding of skin's function in the immune system and overall health, I hope to contribute to an improved quality of life for all by reducing and eventually eliminating overexposure to harmful toxins from personal care products, foods, clothing, furniture, cleaning supplies and the environment.

I hope you will join me in the decades ahead as we support each other with information, action and healing to create a new, Vivid Green Generation.

- Kim Walls, MS CEO & Founder Episencial

PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT PHILOSOPHY

Episencial products are safe, actively support immunity and vitality, and are manufactured with sustainable values including the use of renewable energy – solar power. The formulas are filled with targeted nutrients, aromatherapy, and organic ingredients to address every-day issues including immunity, mental focus, creativity, and bonding.

The foundation of Episencial's product development philosophy centers on five facts:

- 1) Skin is a window into the body's internal condition and mirrors its external environment.
- 2) Removing exposure to toxins, surprisingly prevalent in personal care products, reduces the workload of the body's immune system.
- 3) Skin is a large and complex organ which, when properly cared for, has the power to boost the body's entire immune system and enhance overall health.
- 4) The mother-baby bond is an essential component to the cohesiveness of the entire family unit and can be strengthened through the intentional practice of infant massage with specialized skincare products.
- 5) For effective protection and nourishment, baby skin, which is not fully developed at birth, requires a specific approach to care and treatment.

Advanced and varied skin care techniques are combined with time-tested ingredients to address the unique needs of pregnancy and children's skin. Episencial's ability to bring revolutionary products to market is evidenced by its innovative Baby Diaper Spray. A product that won the PTPA Media award, has received countless accolades, and been touted as "The best diaper cream ever created..." by About.com. With a rich history in skincare advancement, Episencial products fill open segments in the market and deliver on the promise of their key selling points.

Your purchase supports a safer future for us all.

GIVEAWAYS

Episencial offers special products for in-store and online giveaways, as well as samples and testers to support the successful introduction and sales of new Episencial products. For special clients, patients, and customers, Episencial also offers a Welcome Set providing travel size products with educational materials and a DVD full of resources, Anne Geddes imagery, and special information.

TRAINING

We value education, requiring all of our partners to take part in education programs suited to time and staffing needs. Depending upon region, training is completed in person, online, and by telephone. Every employee and manager has ample opportunity for training to enhance sell-through and retailer success.

WEBSITE

Episencial does not sell products for retail on the company website. Instead, we offer a content-rich online environment to which retailers can link to provide information and use guidelines, customer service, and access to a wide range of healthy parenting professionals to their customers. The content provides clear insights and raises awareness in the parenting community about the importance of proper and environmentally sound skincare for children and pregnant women.

As a content rich website, Episencial has secured approval and widget use by authoritative third parties such as MSNBC. Episencial also provides retailer support by syndicating its content to build relationships with community based blogging and syndication sites for parents such as Intent.com, HotMoms.com, and DrGreene.com to enhance viral, word-of-mouth promotion. Editorial and product reviews promote the brand on hundreds of other websites targeting our retailers' core consumer and demographic audience.

In addition to building a strong online community of consumers, Episencial is developing high-level relationships with search engines such as Google, Yahoo, etc., to maximize search engine optimization for Episencial products. Since the website does not sell directly to consumers, Episencial's website traffic is directed to purchase products from our retailers. Additionally, we see our online relationships as an opportunity to gather recommendations on relevant content and a way to intimately involve parents and professionals in building the brand and influencing the launch of new products.

We link directly to all of our retailer websites, as well as participate in Linkshare (www.linkshare.com) to provide enhanced visibility for participating retailers on the Episencial website.

IN STORE MERCHANDISING

Episencial provides in-store merchandising, point-of-sale, and point-of-purchase support materials such as display units, post-cards, samples, and hand-outs.

PUBLIC RELATIONS OUTREACH & SUPPORT

We support the Epicuren Baby brand with constant and ongoing outreach to relevant media including print, online, and TV. Episencial's message, the skin and its surroundings are intricately involved in immunity, and the support of skin enhances overall health, reaches consumers through an increasingly active online community, philanthropy, and published works. Episencial is committed to leveraging media opportunities to raise awareness and increase the incorporation of holistic health practices and products into mother and baby care. Epicuren Baby products' differentiation points are promoted across all marketing channels. Because the brand excels on so many differentiation points, consumers and professionals have already embraced Episencial and freely discuss the products' features and benefits online and in parenting classes. Thus, blogging and viral marketing opportunities abound.

Episencial frequently participates in high-profile luxury events such as celebrity baby showers, as well as swag rooms for the Golden Globe and Oscar events. The products' adoration by celebrity parents helps promote brand awareness. Epicuren Baby products and editorial articles by CEO, Kim Walls are regularly featured in industry and consumer publications, as well as online.

"Epicuren Baby perfectly balances environmental consciousness with healthy ingredients baby's skin needs. Most importantly the comforting aromatherapy can make Mom feel even more connected with her new baby. Perfect gift to give to a friend, relative, or yourself."

-Kara Hoisington, Mom Central Media

"I'm so happy to have found these products. I have a new baby and have really been needing the best thing for her. I totally love this. The diaper spray feels amazing, and it's so great that the Epicuren Baby products don't use any of the bad stuff!"

- Marisol Nichols, Actress & Mother

"The Epicuren Baby products for my son are gorgeous. I can tell you that the cream works very well; we are in brisk New York right now, and his face was looking a little dry, and the cream just brought it back to that soft baby skin. And it's great to know that they aren't filled with unhealthy stuff."

- Gretchen Moll, Actress & Mother

HEALTHY PARENTING

PROFESSIONAL ADVISORY BOARD

Episencial is at the cutting edge of environmentally responsible, clinical skincare for children and moms - a position that comes with great responsibility to both parents and professionals, and an obligation we embrace with pride and honor.

Our board of advisors includes the world's foremost childbirth, postpartum, and natural parenting professionals, ranging from obstetricians to child birth educators to environmental consultants, each offering vast experience and guidance to help us provide you with the most effective, sustainably manufactured and safest products available today and in the future.

“As an Obstetrician, I have attempted to guide many women through the life changing events of pregnancy and motherhood. Epicuren Baby products allow me to offer a natural remedy to many health issues facing women. The ability to use products that are natural and therefore safer for babies allows mothers to protect the skin. The ability to recommend products that also respect the health of the environment allows me to be a better physician. Only by acknowledging women's roles in their families, communities and the environment in which they live, are we truly being responsible to our roles as protecting the health of our families.”

- Robert Biter, MD/Founder Cardiff by The Sea Birthing Center

Episencial’s Healthy Parenting Professional Advisory Board includes Obstetrics: Robert Biter, MD; Lactation: Corky Harvey, RN; Infant & Pregnancy Massage: Linda Storm, CMCEIM, ITIM; Chiropractic: Jeanne Ohm, DC; and for Naturopathy: Stephanie Riley, ND. To benefit our broad and rapidly growing network of Healthy Parenting Professionals, Episencial will soon introduce a line of products available exclusively to Professionals and their clients and patients.

“As a lactation consultant I consider it my duty to alert parents to the hidden risks associated with what we put in and on our bodies and those of babies. I have every confidence in Epicuren Baby products, use them on my grandson, and recommend them because not only are they 100 percent natural and, therefore, toxin-free, but the formulations effectively protect and nurture the skin and its immune functions.”

- Corky Harvey, RN - Lactation Consultant/Co-Owner The Pump Station

PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS & ALLIANCES

Episencial's philosophy and products are endorsed by professional organizations for continuing leadership in advancing environmental activism into future generations and creating effective, high quality products with a mission to support Healthy Parenting. As the exclusive skincare sponsor of the nations leading Professional Associations, Episencial expands its mission to educate parents, and by natural extension their children, on the importance of all natural skin care for healthy body and planet.

Childbirth and Postpartum Professional Association (www.CAPPA.net)

Episencial is the first skin care company to receive the endorsement of the prestigious Childbirth and Postpartum Professional Association through which Episencial will provide education and awareness on topics ranging from skin during pregnancy, care and development of infant skin, products for infant massage and enhancing the parent - baby bonding experience. The CAPPA membership is comprised of the professionals to whom women turn for guidance through the transformative experience of pregnancy and new motherhood. Naturally, their endorsement of Episencial's Epicuren Baby skin care line is a significant validation of our work.

Pregnancy Awareness Month (www.pregnancyawarenessmonth.com)

Pregnancy Awareness Month seeks to empower women with accurate education and information about birthing choices, nursing, and health during this momentous time in life, and Episencial is thrilled to share our knowledge and products as a part of this experience. Episencial CEO, Kim Walls serves on the advisory board of Pregnancy Awareness Month, along with holistic lifestyle expert and founder Anna Getty, producer of The Business of Being Born Rikki Lake, nationally renowned pediatrician Alan Greene, M.D., and actress Josie Maran.

"I have been a long time fan of Epicuren for myself but now that I am a mom I am so happy to know that the quality and integrity that goes into their adult line is going into their baby's line. I feel so good knowing that I am using products that are free from chemicals on my baby's skin. The lotion is mild and sweet smelling, the diaper cream effective and the bubble bath soothing and bubbly. Hats off to Episencial for thinking of our children."

-Anna Getty, Pre-Natal Yoga Teacher and Eco-Style Expert

International Chiropractic Pediatric Association (www.icpa4kids.com)

Additionally, proceeds from the sale of Epicuren Baby products will benefit the clinical research work of the International Chiropractic Pediatric Association to support its mission to engage and serve family chiropractors worldwide through education, training and research; establish excellence in professional skills and unite in a global community to cooperatively and passionately participate in advancing chiropractic for both the profession and the public.

Healthy Child Healthy World (www.healthychild.org)

HCHW educates parents, supports protective policies, and engages communities to make responsible decisions, simple everyday choices, and well-informed lifestyle improvements to create healthy environments where children and families can flourish. Healthy Child Healthy World exists because more than 125 million Americans, especially children, now face an historically unprecedented rise in chronic disease and illness such as cancer, autism, asthma, birth defects, ADD/ADHD, and learning and developmental disabilities. Credible scientific evidence increasingly points to environmental hazards and household chemicals as causing and contributing to many of these diseases.

As a national leader for nearly two decades, Healthy Child Healthy World has become the nation's leading organization of its kind. They help millions of parents, educators, health professionals, and the general public take action to create healthy environments and embrace green, non-toxic steps.

“Ensuring a healthy future for our children is the most important role we have as parents. Yet the unfortunate danger of chemical toxicity can cause disease and illness – especially in everyday products like personal and baby care products. What I greatly admire about Episencial is that at the core of each product, is the commitment to purity and utmost care for our most precious (and vulnerable) little ones. This is why Healthy Child Healthy World is a proud collaborative partner.”

- Christopher Gavigan, - President Healthy Child Healthy World/Author

SUSTAINABILITY FOR A NEW VIVID GREEN GENERATION

Green isn't just a trend. Episencial believes its products and business practices are opportunities to effect positive change for our world. Sustainability is at the very core of how we conducts business:

- Episencial uses botanical, sustainably farmed, and certified organic ingredients;
- supports alternative energy development with the use of solar-power for manufacturing;
- uses food-grade, non-leaching recycled plastic containers free from residues of dioxins, phthalates, or other xenoestrogens;
- features FSC certified, recyclable and sturdy packaging to encourage re-use and re-purposing;
- and employs paperless systems for inventory management, invoicing, and marketing.

"I have had the opportunity to work with babies and families for over twenty years, and working as a birth doula and lactation educator, I take personal responsibility in educating my families on the importance of what goes into our bodies, as well as what we put on them! I can't express enough gratitude and appreciation for the Epicuren Baby Line, it has become the gift I give at every birth!!"

-Valerie M. Peterson - Birth Doula , Cardiff by The Sea California

"I've always been concerned about the environment. But that concern grew far more urgent when I became a parent - the environment of today and tomorrow has such a direct impact on my child's quality of life and health. I am so grateful to companies like Episencial that go the extra step by creating all natural products with green manufacturing. I know these chemical free products are better for my baby and the planet."

- Laura Dern, Celebrity Mom & Environmental Advocate

EPISENCIAL'S CEO & FOUNDER

Kim Walls, M.S., is the CEO of Episencial® and creator of the Epicuren® Baby skincare products and philosophy. A second-generation skincare expert from the family that developed the world-renowned Epicuren® anti-aging skincare products, she now combines her environmental activism with expertise in clinical skincare and nutritional science to develop green, effective skincare for pregnant women and children. For more than a decade, Walls has honed her clinical perspective focusing on botanically based skincare and transdermal nutrient absorption as a pathway to improved health and beauty for women and children. She shares her experience internationally with dermatologists and estheticians, as well as childbirth and postpartum professionals, underscoring the relationship between optimum health and skincare. Now through her company, Episencial, she is dedicated to sharing that knowledge with new and growing families to support the enhanced health and immunity that effective, all natural products can provide.

Kim's strong, personal commitment to organic and environmentally-responsible living is at the core of Episencial's high standards for green manufacturing and product development. As the mother of two young boys, she has coupled her innate understanding of the importance of sustainability with her post-graduate work in biochemical and nutritional sciences to establish a new standard in skincare research and products that supports lasting health for today's families.

Kim is a spokesperson not only for Episencial, but for her broader mission to support "Healthy Parenting for a new, Vivid Green Generation". As a long-standing professional in the field, an Advisory Board Member of Pregnancy Awareness Month and Eco Baby World, a featured speaker at health and industry events, a Guest Blogger for high-traffic medical websites such as www.drgreene.com, and author of articles for published books and periodicals, Kim offers her more than 15 years experience in the health and wellness industry to generate environmental skincare awareness that ultimately supports product sales for Episencial retailers.

"You are brilliant! Thanks for all you are doing to create a Vivid Green Generation."

- Allen Greene, M.D., Pediatrician & Author - Raising Baby Green
